PRINCESS PATTEN

A daily guide to cruise activities

NEW YORK, USA • TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 2007 • GRAND PRINCESS
Sunrise 6:29am • Sunset 6:48pm • Tonight's Dress: Casual

Welcome Aboard!

Captain Perrin began his seagoing career when he left school joining the Royal Fleet Auxiliary Service as a Deck Cadet. During his ten years with the RFA he worked on many different types of ship including tankers and general cargo ships. Whilst serving as a Junior Officer, the RFA sponsored his studies at the College of Maritime Studies in Southampton, England. He gained his Officer of the Watch Certificate in 1987 and continued his education gaining his Master Mariner's Certificate in 1994.

In 1995, the bright lights of the Cruise Industry lured him away from a Military life and he joined P&O Princess Cruises as Navigator of the SS Canberra operating in our P&O Cruises UK Fleet. Less than a year later he was appointed as First Officer to the original Love Boat, the Pacific Princess, where he claims to have spent the best three years of his career.

Subsequently he was lucky enough to have been involved in bringing five of Princess' new super-liners into service from shipyards in Italy and France.

P&O Princess Cruises has given Captain Perrin great opportunities, he has served on virtually every class of ship in the Princess Fleet and he has sailed to most of our regular and exotic destinations. He first took command onboard the Tahitian Princess sailing the beautiful islands of French Polynesia, the Cook Islands and Hawaii.

Captain Perrin spends his leave periods at home in Dorchester, a small market town in the South West of England where he doesn't have a sea view!! When the cold and wet of the British climate become too much he enjoys following the sun South to Italy or France on the Mediterranean coast for vacation.

Your Dining Options

Grand Princess proudly boasts the widest possible choice of dining options and venues of any cruise liner afloat today.

Personal Choice - Anytime Dining: The freedom to dine when, where and with whom you wish. Your cruise card will indicate 'any'. Reservation is not required. For particular party size call the Dine Line #3463 from 7:15am till 5:00pm.

Traditional Fixed Seating:

The choice to dine at the same time every evening. Your cruise card will indicate your designated dining room, table number and dinner sitting.
