Captain Edward G. van Zaane

Captain van Zaane is master of the ms Nieuw Amsterdam. The 29-year Holland America Line veteran brought ms Amsterdam into service in 2001 and served at its helm on the line's Grand World Voyages for nine years. He recently oversaw the completion of the ship including the arrival and training of crew, testing various ship's systems and participating in sea trials. "It's a unique experience and the dream of any captain to bring out a new ship," said van Zaane. "I've had the great fortune twice within 10 years, and I'm eagerly looking forward to sailing with you on this beautiful new vessel." Born in The Hague, Netherlands, van Zaane went to sea in 1977, first sailing on heavy-lift cargo ships and then a deep-sea research vessel before graduating with honors from the Maritime Academy in Den Helder, Netherlands. He joined Holland America Line in 1981 as fourth officer on ms Statendam IV. Quickly working his way up the ranks, he served on many Holland America ships and was promoted to captain of Rotterdam V in 1994. Since then van Zaane has sailed on numerous grand and world voyages. When not at sea, he resides in The Hague, Netherlands with his wife, actress and model Apollonia van Ravenstein.
